Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 24 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine and dry for most, with warm sunny spells developing.

Today:
Early low cloud will once again burn back to the coast this morning to leave a mostly fine and dry day, with warm sunny spells and a fresh breeze. However, coastal areas will feel a little cooler. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Low cloud will again edge inland through the night, with some coast mist too. Temperatures a little lower than last night, with the odd light shower possible. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Sunday:
Coastal areas will be a little foggy on Sunday morning, with cloudy skies persisting for the rest of the day. Elsewhere will be dry with warm sunny spells. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
It will be foggy around coastal areas, with some isolated showers on Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday will be cooler, breezier with outbreaks of rain or showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.